The Rose Case Ended This Morning.

MRS. ROSE TOLD HER STORY

And a Sensational One It Proved to Be.

THAT WAS IN A NIGHT SESSION

And When Court Opened This Morning Prosecutor Speaker Said That Developing Circumstances Made the State Willing to Accept a Plea of Guilty to Assault and Battery—What the Prosecuting Witnesses Had to Say When Placed Upon the Stand Last Evening.

Special to the NEWS REVIEW.

LISBON, Dec. 14.—The case of Holloway against Galbreath, which stood in the way of the trial of Charles Rose, was announced as settled at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the contending attorneys stated that they were ready for the trial to begin, and the sensational case was put on.

Prosecutor Speaker asked the jury regarding any opinion they had formed of the case, and challenged Job Dawson, of East Liverpool, and a Mr. McCoy, whose places were filled by Lawrence Eaton and Jefferson Con-kley. Juror Harrison was challenged by the defense, and his chair went to George Griffith. Then, as each side was content, the case was adjourned until 6:30. Before the evening session began there was a rumor that an effort was being made to settle the case by the defendant pleading guilty to assault and battery, but this was either without foundation or was opposed by the prosecution.

After the jury were sworn, Prosecutor Speaker opened by a careful review of the case, placing before the jury circumstances tending to show that the shooting was deliberate and with intent to kill. The case for the defense was reviewed by Attorney Brookes, who mentioned the unlawful and unholy relation existing between the wife of the accused and Philip Morley; how Rose had pleaded with his wife to give him up, but which she refused, stating that he was her particular friend, and showing her preference for him. That on leaving her husband last June she had gone to Black Hawk with Morley, where he visited her the following Sunday, staying with her the greater part of the day. Just one week later, the attorney said, she returned to East Liverpool having heard that her husband's people intended bringing suit against Morley for the purpose, as she stated, of giving them Hall Columbia. Letters which had passed between Rose and Morley, the counsel said, would be shown in evidence, also circumstances to show that Morley had said to Rose that the taking care of his wife was the only condition under which he could retain his position at the water works. Rose's efforts at reconciliation were touched upon, and the theory of temporary insanity advanced as regards the shooting. It was hereditary, and as a boy Rose had never been of strong mind. Mrs. Ada Rose, the prosecuting witness, was put upon the stand, and said that she was the wife of Charles Rose, 21 years old and lived in East Liverpool.

"I met Charles Rose at the Fifth street rink in 1889 and married him two years later. For two years we lived with his parents, and then moved to a house on the rear of the lot. We never got on very well as he was in the habit of running after other women.
One year after marriage I learned of this when he contracted a loathsome disease which he gave to me, and when I told him of it he acknowledged that he had been in Wellsville, and gave me the name of women he was with. He was sick a week, and I cared for him.
In January of 1893 he got the syphilis and gave it to me. I was under the doctor's care for several weeks. I told my husband that I intended to leave him, and he said if I did he would kill me. He said if I did he would kill me. I again told him I would not live with him if he could not take me to my own house as I had been insulted several times by his father, and when he saw that I intended to do it we moved into our own house. On June 20, I did leave him, telling him that if he was mean and low enough to subject himself to this disease he ought to protect his wife. I went to my grandmother's at Black Hawk, leaving my child temporarily with Charley, and came back in a week to see the child. I went to the Rose house, and saw my husband and had a talk with him. When he asked me to go to our house as he wanted to talk to me. I went, and he wanted me to return to him, but I said I would never do it. My half-aunt was with me, and when I left she went with me to the ice plant as she wanted to see it. While we were there Charley and his father came, and I returned with them. I told Mr.

Rose that I had left Charley on account of this disease, and he said very angrily that he did not believe it, but it was on account of Phil Morley. He said something about shooting him, and Charley said if there was any shooting done he would do it. That was the only time I had ever been accused of any undue intimacy with Morley. We went out on the front porch and Charley insisted on going down town with me which I refused to let him do, telling him that I had left him forever, and would not have people see us together. He produced the revolver, and I told his father if he followed me I would have him arrested for carrying concealed weapons. I started, heard his sister scream, and turning saw he and his father struggling together. He soon got loose.
Then the whiz of a bullet passed my shoulder, followed by the report of a revolver. He again took aim, and shot me in the right hip. I started down the street, taking a circuitous route to avoid Mr. Rose, and on reaching the ice plant almost fainted. I went in and waited 20 minutes, after which I went to the office of Doctor Hobbs."

The cross examination by Attorney Smith caused the witness to say:
"This wound was a flesh wound, and kept me in the house for two weeks.
I do not consider that there is anything remarkable in the fact that I went to the ice plant, even if Philip Morley is the superintendent. He came to the doctor's when I was there, and afterward to Mrs. McKeever's where I stayed four weeks. He did not bring me a night dress, and did not pay my board, which was paid by my mother. He came to see me three times while I was there, but did not pay the doctor bill. To the best of my knowledge that has never been paid.
I was not excited during the shooting as I was anxious to see what he would do. In December, 1891, I visited my mother at Darlington, but did not contract any disease there. I never attended a dance there, but went to one wedding supper. I have not seen my child since last June, but I suppose it is still with them. I did not tell my husband last spring that I was going to have another child, but I did tell him that I would never have another child to him, as a doctor had told me of the awful results of bearing children in my condition. I sought medical advice last spring when I had reason to be alarmed concerning this, but was denied it. I saw Philip Morley when I left home, as he came with a carriage, at my request, and took me to Black Hawk, and the next Sunday he came and stayed a part of the day. I know he is married and has a son almost my age."

When Prosecutor Speaker examined again Mrs. Rose said that her husband was employed at the water works when Morley was superintendent, but he quit work after our separation. I knew Morley before I was married, but I never told my husband that he had been to see me, and remained until 11 o'clock."

At this point in the proceedings court was adjourned until 8:30 o'clock when the sensation of the hour appeared. When attorneys and witnesses had gathered it was soon evident that the defense were doing all in their power to settle the case by inducing the state to accept a plea of assault and battery. The testimony of the prosecuting witness was of such a character as to place the defendant in anything but a favorable light.
When court opened Prosecutor Speaker said that because of modifying circumstances, which while they did not in the least excuse the crime, tended to palliate the offense. The state had been but recently informed of these circumstances, and had decided to accept a plea of guilty to assault and battery.
As this seemed to be the wish of both sides, the court nollied the indictment found by the grand jury, and guilty to assault and battery was entered. The witnesses were excused, and the jury dismissed until Tuesday, while the defense asked a delay in sentencing, and the day after Christmas was chosen as the time.

With the settlement of the case the public is saved the recital of a disgraceful episode.

THE JIMMY ONCE MORE

Burglars Were at Work Early This Morning.

A STORE AND SALOON ROBBED

But the Thieves Secured Little Booty.
Hathway & Whipple's Store Entered.
While Frank Riggot Loses $53 and a Gun—No Clue Discovered.

No sooner has one gang of burglars been disposed of than another begins operations, and they choose last night for their work.

The first place entered was a grocery in West End. The store is owned by Doctor Hathway and Miss Whipple, the ladies operating it under the firm name of Hathway & Whipple. They knew nothing of any unusual happening in their vicinity until this morning, when they awoke and found the front door open. It had been pried loose with a jimmy and the money drawer was empty. Fortunately the cash box contained only a few dollars in change and the loss was therefore not great. As near as can be estimated the theft was committed about midnight, and no trace of the thieves can be found. The money was in a purse, but the burglars considerably left the pocketbook behind.

A second burglary, and the only other one so far reported to the authorities, was committed at the saloon of Frank Riggot, West Market street. The thieves visited the place some time after 1 o'clock, and found the front door an easy mark for their mischievous tool. They secured only $3 and a revolver, so far as can be noticed. It was thought that the thieves had taken some whisky, but if they did so it went away in them. The thieves evidently took warning by the bad luck which stolen whisky brought the three captured ones, and if they took any spirits disposed of it before they left.

Board of Health Moves Against Council.

The case of the board of health against council took another turn today when each mandamus proceedings were begun at Lisbon.

The petition bears the names of every member of the board as plaintiffs and all the councilmen as defendants, and states that the plaintiffs are the board of health and the defendants make up the city council, this being a municipal corporation of the fourth grade of the second class. They say that in pursuance of law they contracted and daily certified bills of indebtedness deemed proper and necessary, and that council refused on Dec.
11 to include the bills in the ordinance for the payment of certain bills passed on that day, and did otherwise refuse to appropriate money for their payment. Neither would council recognize and approve the indebtedness, certified and presented to council as it was in accordance with the law. By so doing the board believe that council has ignored the action and authority of the board, and exceeded its own authority and power.
After showing that because of this the persons are denied the amounts due them, the bills are given, nine in number, including the account for milk, and the different accounts of Schmidtbauer. The petitioners then declare that they certified the amounts after careful examination, but since council refuses to pay the bills the board has but one resort, and that is common pleas court. A writ of mandamus is asked against the defendants as city council, and that they pass an order allowing the claims, and that the necessary ordinance appropriating money for the claims be ordered. The petition is signed by Attorneys Clark and Brookes, and the affidavit by J. J. Purinton.

The petition was filed in court today. Solicitor Clark said that they expect the court to grant a premptory writ, although an alternative writ may be given.

Caught From a Fine.

A defective flue in the house of James Newman, near the Grant street school, caused a fire this afternoon.
The department did its best to make a good run, but the mud on the hill compelled the drivers to stop so often that the fire was extinguished before they arrived. The damage is slight.

A Formal Demand.

Acting Secretary of State E. F. Uhl has written J. J. Purinton that Minister Terrell has made a formal demand that the Turkish government take immediate steps to discover and punish the murderers of Frank Leuz, if he has been murdered. This places the matter just where Mr. Purinton has been wanting it for some time, since thorough search is being made for the missing man, and if he is not found those who are responsible for his disappearance will likely lose their heads.

M'GREGOR TOMORROW.

The Arguments For a New Trial Will be Heard.

LISBON, Dec. 14.—The argument of the motion for a new trial in the Mc-Gregor case will be heard tomorrow, and much interest is expressed among those conversant with the case. It is said that Alma Walters is here and is staying at the Hastetter House, although an attorney for the defense was refused permission to see her.
She is said to be in charge of attorneys for the state.

LATER—Prosecutor Speaker said a few minutes ago that Alma Walters was in town. She was seen by a relative of McGregor in Pittsburgh last week, and said that she could only tell what she had already told, although she might have said some-more. The affidavits have not yet been filed by the defense.

Ralph McGready.

We are glad to note that our young townsman is doing a nice business in the old Hassey stand, opposite the Grand Opera House, Sixth street.
His ice cream parlor is a beauty, and the article served patrons is simply delicious. Bricks, any flavor, will be sent to your homes on short notice.
The soda fountain runs winter and summer, and the beverages are all that heart or palate can desire. The lunch tables have become a favorite resort. The candies and confections are simply first class. Ralph can supply you with anything in the bakery line. Give him a call.

Marlatt Is Restless.

Ira Marlatt, who raised such a row in the penitentiary the other day, is very restless, and fumes and frets in his cell like a madman. Before he was overpowered by the guards he was beaten almost into insensibility, and he suffers much on account of his wounds. When the physician attempts to dress them Marlatt becomes violent, and it is only after much persuasion that he will permit the operation.

A New Doctor.

Dr. H. M. Calvin has decided to locate in East Liverpool. He went down Tuesday afternoon to arrange for an office. He will not move his family for some time. Doctor Calvin is one of the brightest young physicians in the county and his many friends here are loath to part with him, but all will join and wish him success in his new field.—Sallenville Banner.

Too Late to Settle.

It was rumored today that a member of council offered to have a special meeting called and pay the board of health bills if the attorneys would call a halt in the proceedings, but Mr. Brookes, to whom the alleged proposition was made, refused. The petition was filed.

Grandly Good News For All
Our Citizens.

HEADQUARTERS FOR PRESENTS

Henry E. Porter Makes Announcement of the Fact That the People's Store, as in Days Gone By, is Headquarters for the General Old Gentleman Known as Santa Claus—Christmas Presents For All the People.

Competitors may be hustlers from away back, and they may make herculean efforts to occupy the lead in the dress and dry goods trade, and in catering to the masses in the line of novelties; but their efforts, while commendable and praiseworthy in the extreme, are all in vain, as THE PEOPLE'S STORE cannot be routed from the enviable berth it has so long occupied in the hearts and lives of the masses.

Very naturally, especially in the minds of comparative strangers, those who have resided here but a short time, comes the query, "how is it that the establishment presided over by HENRY E. PORTER occupies such a prominent, leading place in the trade circles of East Liverpool and the surrounding country?" Make this query of an old-time resident, one who has paid close and particular attention to business circles, and the ready response will greet you:

"Well, Porter's knowledge and experience of the dress and dry goods business stands him in good stead in the mercantile race. He is a splendid judge of goods, and one of the best buyers in all Eastern Ohio. His acquaintance in the eastern market is very extensive, much more so than that of the average merchant, and this point is a winning feature. Then his purchases are immense, and the heavy wholesale dealers find that, in order to deal with him, they must make unusual concessions. Note these essential features, my friend, and then note that PORTER'S store is always stocked with the latest fashions, styles and fabrics; then add to these facts the clue that he is a firm believer in the adage of 'quick sales and small profits,' and is always willing to share his winnings with his patrons, and you have the secret of the wonderful success attending the life history of THE PEOPLE'S STORE in this section of Ohio."

And the "old timer" has hit the nail squarely and fairly on the head.
Seeing is believing, and if you will pay a visit to this mammoth storeroom, and make a careful survey of the goods now on exhibition in every department, and then make inquiries as to ruling prices, you will no longer wonder that this fine establishment has pushed all would-be competitors and rivals to the rear and background.

When you are starting out to secure holiday presents, make note that here you can purchase art china, imported and domestic; cut glass, all imported; linen table sets, all imported; novelty and plain silks, all American manufacture; dress goods of every description known to the trade, all the latest fashions and fabrics, imported and domestic; elegant wraps from New York, Berlin and Cleveland; fine blankets, strictly home made, manufactured right here in our own Columbian county; umbrellas, strictly American manufacture. American, or home products are given the preference in every instance, but the law of necessity at times compels the purchase of imported goods.

You cannot have a just and full conception of the beautiful goods and most wonderful bargains offered, unless you pay the establishment a visit and make a close and critical survey of the thousands of articles on exhibit, and note the exceedingly low figures asked for them. The proprietor courts just such an inspection, as he is confident that both goods and prices defy duplication, and he will see to it that your visit is made a pleasant and profitable one.

A full corps of salesmen and sales-women is necessary to meet the demand for goods, and the following is our roll call: H. E. Porter, proprietor; C. C. Beymer, general manager; Misses Grace Hart, Annie Geon, Nellie Frederick, Maggie McDune, Lizzie Steele, Bertha Walters, Bessie Camp and Mable Terrence, saleswomen. One and all wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year, and will take great pleasure in waiting upon you at THE PEOPLE'S STORE.

Don't fail to make a critical survey and inspection of our superb exhibit in the massive show windows. The exhibit made by the Sebring Bros.
Pottery company is a beautiful one, and is attracting much favorable comment. Our home manufacturers have just cause for pride in the product they are placing on the market.

For President,
WILLIAM McKINLEY,
 OHIO.

WHEN Mr. Peffer emerges from the dignity in which he is enveloped he may discover that populism with all its foolishness is on the wane.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has few friends in congress. Like rats fleeing from a sinking ship they leave him a wreck upon the sea of his own egotism.

AMONG the best and most reliable papers coming to the office of the NEWS REVIEW, the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette stands in the front row.

Hoke Smith does not appear in public these days, yet as proof that he is active he acknowledges a saving of $10,000,000 in pensions. The temperature is low on the day that Hoke fails to rob some unwary veteran.

CLEVELAND's police department is sadly in need of an investigation.
 Prominent citizens are murdered, burglaries are committed and thugs flourish like noxious weeds, yet the guardians of the peace who fail to guard never get the right man.

WHEN next the Ohio legislature meets there should be some statesman with sufficient energy to demand the passage of a bill for the improvement of county roads. Towns and cities in all parts of the state are improving by the liberal expenditure of money for good streets, and there is no reason why counties should not be empowered to levy a tax for the piking of main highways and the improvement of other roads.

As proof that the reduction in the crockery duty takes employment from the American workman, the report for last few weeks stands unrivaled.
 For the week ending Nov. 17, 1893, the record showed the importation of 751 packages of foreign ware, while for the same time this year, under the new duty, there were 2,282 packages imported. If that ware had not been shipped to this country American potters would have made it.

THERE is no reason why council and the board of health should become involved in a squabble which, should it come to court, will be at the expense of the people. As both contestants are branches of the same tree it would be advisable for both sides to meet and talk the matter over. Then let it be decided whether the bill must be paid, or if this cannot be done let the losing end see that no expense is placed upon the public.

A SENSIBLE BUYER.

He Who Fills This Bill is He Who Buys
 the Best Goods.

This is good common sense, the very best sense, the sense which eventually puts money in your pocket.
 And the best goods in the grocery line should be purchased every time, for more than one reason. The first reason is the point of health, and common sense teaches a man that good health is the most precious treasure he can possess. And good groceries are very pleasing to the palate—the taste. And this is worth much to the average man and woman. And good groceries are, in the long run, really cheaper than the common trash which many retailers handle and deal out to patrons. When you want the very BIG POKER STORIES.

THEIR TEXT THE REMARKABLE VA-GARIES OF LUCK.

Senator Wolcott's Lucky Draw in the "Horse" Game—The Old Red Ear Story Retold in Condensed Form—The Personal Confession of One of "The Company."

"I suppose Senator Wolcott is one of the coolest men living when engaged in a game of chance," said Albert Watson of Denver. "Like most men whose early manhood has been spent on the frontier, he learned the value of a poker hand and the best way to keep cases as soon as he learned law, and he was known as a 'limit' player all over Colorado before his fame as a lawyer had spread outside of Denver. When playing faro, he always did and does yet bet as much on the turn of a card as the dealer will allow him to, and when he sits in a poker game the other people want to keep their eyes wide open and play their cards mighty close up to their chests."

"Wolcott once found himself in a game of poker where three of the other players were playing a sure game. They were professionals and were after a big bundle of money that he had in his possession as well as looking for that which the fifth player, a mining operator named Durkin, was known to have.
 Wolcott knew in 20 minutes after the first hand was dealt that the intention was to rob him and wearied his wits trying to find a way out of the game without making trouble, but he couldn't discover a means to save him. At last he dealt a pat flush of diamonds made up of the 5, 7, 8, 9 and jack. He skinned those cards over and did a mighty piece of thinking. He felt in his bones that a flush would be no account in the world when it came to a showdown, but he chipped in and staid to draw cards. To his surprise, he wasn't raised before the draw."

"He looked over his bright red diamonds and concluded to draw a card, in order, if possible, to strengthen the sequence. He pondered a long time between discarding the 5 spot or the picture, and at last tossed away the jack and called for a card. The dealer looked surprised at his wanting any, but gave him the card. Wolcott picked it up and found he had got the 6 spot of diamonds. He never turned a hair. The betting began, and he nursed his sequence of diamonds and just staid al-along, letting the other fellows do the raising. At last it got down to Wolcott and one of the professionals. Finally there was a call, and the other man showed four queens. Wolcott had down the 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 of diamonds and swept in the pot. The game stopped right there. I reckon that was the greatest piece of luck that any man ever had in a poker game."

When Mr. Watson had concluded his interesting recital and the wonderful draw had been expatiated upon, one of his listeners remarked that he reckoned it was his deal. "This is a story of luck, too," he remarked, "but of a different character from that experienced by Senator Wolcott. A friend of mine who lives out in Maryland was playing in a little poker game not long ago. The paraphernalia of the game was primitive, consisting of a single well thumbed deck of steamboat cards, with grains of corn for chips. My friend was followed by a regular tempest of bad luck, and his corn was down to a very few grains.
 He agitated his mind for a minute or two and then suddenly announced that he had forgotten to give his horse water and would have to do it. He went out of the house, and being familiar with the premises made his way to the cornhouse, and putting in his hand in the dark got an ear of corn and put it in his pocket.
 Then he went to the stable, after making a big noise at the pump to let the fellows inside believe he was moistening his animal, and returned in a few minutes to the house. He sat down and proceeded to pull out the 'chips' he had placed in his pocket when he left, and which he had substantially added to meantime. You can imagine his consternation when he found that he drew forth his original dozen white 'chips,' with twice that many red. He had managed to find in the dark the only red ear in the cornhouse."

"I'll make a personal confession after that," said Henry Miller when the laugh subsided. "Some years ago I was prone now and then to indulge in the delights of draw, and there was a friend living near me, over in Georgetown, afflicted with intermittent insanity of the same sort that visited him at intervals coincident with my own. Consequently we usually hunted the animal together. One night we came over this side of the creek together and proceeded to a place on Ninth street, where a public game, with table stakes, was pretty popular. Along about 11 o'clock we both got broke and concluded to go home. The night had grown stormy, and it was sleeting like sin when we left the 'club,' as it was called. A search revealed that we had but one car ticket between us. The bobtail cars, without a conductor, were then used on the Metropolitan line, and we conceived the highly original idea of splitting that ticket in half and dropping the two pieces in the box. We boarded the last car over and carried out our scheme.

 You may knock me down if both pieces didn't fall in the box white side up.
 The driver glanced at them and then started to open the door, but we both made a break and got off the car. I made up my mind there that my luck was too utterly bad for a poker player, and walking home through that blizzard I determined to try no more poker, and I haven't touched a card in a money game since."—Washington Star.

Robert Burns.

He was born and brought up in the midst of poverty and comparative ignorance. When, in 1857, Nathaniel Hawthorne visited the poet's residence at Dumfries and took notice of his filthy and malodorous surroundings, he wondered that Burns could have preserved his marvelous genius in such an unsavory spot. The author of "The Scarlet Letter" was even more horrified at the wretched aspect of Burns' farm at Moss-giel and could not compare the habitation in which the Scottish bard passed so many of his days to a pigsty. "It is sad," wrote Hawthorne, "to think of anybody—not to say a poet, but any human being—sleeping, eating, thinking, praying and spending all his home life in this miserable hovel." He praises the "heroic merit" of Burns for being no worse man amid "the squalid hindrances" that beset the poet's moral and intellectual development.

Hawthorne was right. Low associations, bad sanitary conditions and the companionship of the vile are all but fatal to human virtue. Burns was never utterly degraded. He was always, in spite of his failings, a true man, and his passionate love for his fellow men outlived all his sufferings.

His relations with Jean Armour, though they proved his frailty and hers, were honorable to him in some respects, for he left nothing undone to repair the error of his youth. His intemperance was rather the effect of his convivial disposition than of any vicious tendency. If he sinned, he paid the penalty, one might say, with his life. His career terminated at 37, and, having regard to his circumstances and opportunities, his record as a poet is unparalleled, for no man ever achieved so much as Burns with so little aid from the world and with such terrible impediments in his path.—Westminster Review.

What Ailed the Speech.

At the close of one of the sessions in the trial of Warren Hastings, when most of those engaged had gathered in the anteroom, Dr. Parr stalked up and down the room in his pedantic, pompous way, growling out praises of the speeches of Fox and Sheridan, but saying not a word about Burke's.

Burke, sensitive at this omission and anxious for some commendation from the great authority, could at last contain himself no longer and burst out:
 "Doctor, didn't you like my speech?"
 "No, Edmund," replied Dr. Parr, calmly eying his excited questioner.
 "Your speech was oppressed with metaphor, dislocated by parenthesis and debilitated by amplification!"—Youth's Companion.

A Phenomenon.

"Human beings cannot see in the dark," remarked the teacher.
 "Sister can," replied the small pupil resolutely.
 "Are you sure?"
 "Yes'm. The hall was dark the other night, but sister knew that Mr. Jones had shaved off his mustache before he said a word about it."—Washington

THE VICE PRESIDENT'S OFFICE.

One of the Handsomest Rooms in the Capitol Used by Him.

In the wing of the capitol devoted to the needs of the senate two of the handsomest rooms are set aside for the use of the president and the vice president of the United States. The president's room is naturally put to very little use, while the vice president's is rarely unoccupied.

This room is to be found at the end of the senate lobby. It is a large, square room, with stuccoed ceiling and tinted walls, furnished with an ecorse tinted carpet, several large chairs, two tables, an office desk and a large sofa.

The fireplace—a huge, old fashioned affair for the burning of wood—with its handsome brass fender and accompanying shovel, tongs and poker, is shut in by a glass fire screen. The retiring vice president is permitted to take with him as souvenirs the brass fire tools.

There is another bit of floor furniture in the room in the shape of a small safe, which is used as a repository for the electoral votes as the sealed packages come from the various states after each presidential election. Here they must stay until wanted for counting by the house of representatives. During this time the safe is continually watched by two officers detailed from the capitol police force, and the combination on which the lock is set is known only to the vice president.

Among the wall adornments is a painting of George Washington by Rembrandt Peale. There is a legend to the effect that when sitting for this portrait in 1796 Washington stuffed cotton into his cheeks in lieu of the false teeth he so greatly needed.

Most of the relics of former vice presidents have been relegated to a little anteroom now used for toilet purposes.
 Among them is the mirror 2½ feet long by 1½ wide bought by the senate for the use of John Adams. Both frame and glass are of very poor material, but it cost when purchased $40 and was the subject of serious controversy in the senate. The beautifully carved toilet case, which is also contained in the anteroom, was made to order for General Chester A. Arthur.—Kate Field's

WALKING IN THE RAIN.

A Form of Open Air Exercise That Has Certain Attractions of Its Own.

"What am I going to do?" repeated the returned exile. "Why, I'm going to take a walk in the rain. It's a trick I learned in 'England, dear boy,' and it's one of the most charming forms of exercise on top of this green earth. You see my costume—well, it's the dead copy of that in which a Cornish squire of my acquaintance used to walk in rainy weather over the downs that make up most of his estate. My laced shoes, you perceive, come well up the ankle, have heavy cork soles and have just been treated to a good rubbing in of cold cream. I have stont woolen stockings and knickerbockers on, so as to avoid the flapping and contact of the wet trousers, and this cape mackintosh comes down pretty near to my heels. My underclothing is thick, but not heavy, and my clothes are of rough tweed that wouldn't be damaged if you let 'em lie in a stream for a week. Instead of a collar, I wear a light silk scarf around my neck, over which I turn my coat collar and button it up so. This hat is a waterproof fore and after."

"Umbrella? Why, of course not. That would destroy the very spirit, the very joy, of the experience, which is to feel the rain beating in your face, the wet wind whistling about your ears and the weather banging you about generally. You may not like it at first, but you soon will, and then you'll find there's a sort of wild joy about the thing that you can't resist."

"Catch cold? Why, of course not. In fact, a course of walking in the rain is one of the best preventives against taking cold. So long as you're moving briskly there's no danger of taking cold, no matter how wet it may be. It's the standing or sitting in wet things that's so dangerous, and so you must just walk from the time you leave the house until you get back, and then, when you do get back, strip off everything and give yourself a good rub. And if as you put on your dry things you do not feel a new man with a new zest for the struggle of life then I don't know a banana from an express wagon."—New York

TWO NEEDED REFORMS

How the Compact Will Remedy Some Evils.

CASKS AND BARRELS IN IT

And Bills For Package Will In Future Days be Paid—Men Who Quit Business For the Purpose of Making Money to be Handled Without Gloves—Some Commendable Features.

The compact which will bind in an unbroken chain all the white ware manufacturers will be attended by features of great importance, and which have long been advocated by some of the more energetic among the factory owners.

For years it has been known that some dealers in crockery looked upon the charge for package as dishonest. They have objected loudly, claiming that the man who sold dry goods, shoes and groceries never charged his customers a cent for the expensive boxes in which the goods were shipped. It seems wrong to them that the pottery manufacturer should demand 35 cents for barrels and $1 for casks every time a shipment of ware was made. Some dealers who had objected all their lives and could never get one word of encouragement have in later years resorted to their own resources, and settled the matter in the manner best suited to the occasion. They have cut down the bills forwarded them by the amount specified as the price of the package if it did not represent too much money. They dropped a few barrels from the check when the remittance was made. It frequently happened that these amounts were far too insignificant for the manufacturer to collect by individual suits, and there was always the risk of losing a customer when the action was brought. At the end of the year these small bills meant a big loss to every pottery company in the country. Some have been so annoyed by the constant trouble that they would feign have done away with the custom forever, but there were others who argued that potters all over the world charged for package. The construction of a barrel was such an item of expense that they could not afford to drop the custom entirely, particularly when it was generally known that the dealers had actually forced the move by refusing to pay the required bills. But there was a panacea for the ill, and it seems to have been found in the organization of the new compact. It is whispered here that when all the rules are ready for distribution the book will contain a section devoted to packages and the treatment of those who refuse to pay for them. All dealers who refuse this item when bill is sent will be notified of the error, and if it so happens that the bill is unpaid it will be the duty of the actuary to let all companies know of the matter, and that man will be unable to purchase a barrel of American made ware until he has honestly settled for those packages. He will then seek to find stock and will likely get what he desires from the importers at the risk of the cost of a barrel.

Another reform which will be appreciated by all manufacturers is among the rules proposed. It deals with the scoundrels who work their way into the crockery business for the sole purpose of going to the wall and leaving their creditors in the lurch. These men have been a thorn in the side of the potters for many years, but they have continued to blossom forth in new stores after almost every failure and flourish until the crash came again and some other concern paid for the experience. It seems that there never was a system to catch these fellows, and there are instances on record where men have lived in this fashion and failed so often that it would be labor to follow their different crockery ventures. More than one travelling salesman has worried himself at night over the matter, but no remedy could be found. Now the cure is coming, and its application will likely be followed by more than one man moving in another direction. When a scoundrel fails, and again enters business, he will find it so hard for him to buy ware that he will gladly look for some other avocation. In short not a pottery will sell to him or any concern in which he is interested until the account has been settled in full. As all American factories are reported as being favorable to the compact, this will act as a powerful lever to prevent any unjust man from going the rounds. On the other hand if a dealer who is honest, but has been beset by adverse circumstances over which he has no control, desires to start again in business, even though he is still indebted for stock, concerns can sell him if they desire to take the risk, and there will be no objection from the compact.

The combination, it is said, will be among the best in the country, and will provide for every ordinary question which can appear during the course of a year's business in the manufacture of pottery. The men who have been instrumental in forming the association are those who have grown gray in the business, and are best fitted to know the wants of the industry. They propose to take every precaution against any advantage that the importers may gain, meeting them on a firm basis with a solid front to the enemy.

There was a nice audience present at the First Methodist Episcopal church last night to greet the pastor and listen to his humorous lecture on man. If laughter and mirth are conducive to good health, then surely those who were so fortunate as to be present last evening must now be in full enjoyment of that most precious blessing, as ripples of laughter were ever and anon convulsing the assembly, one good brother, prominent in the church and occupying a front seat, becoming so filled up with merriment over the relation of an unusually funny story as to create alarm in the minds of those in his immediate vicinity, fearing that he might be attacked with laughing hysterics. The talented lecturer was the recipient of warm congratulations as he stepped from the platform.

The Horses Scared.

Robert Bond, a driver for one of the coal companies, yesterday afternoon delivered a large load of the black diamonds to the East Liverpool Pottery company, and left the team standing in the alley in the rear of the plant. The horses scared, and when Bond reappeared they were dashing down the street. The horses turned several corners and finally crossed Broadway. Expressman George Wells saw them, and leaping from his wagon ran after the team. He succeeded in stopping the frightened animals just as they turned into the short alley alongside Colonel Hill's office and averted a smashup, as the wagon would undoubtedly have crashed into the building.

Tramps Are Bad.

West End is overrun with tramps and residents of that section say that a few extra police there would not come amiss. The travelers are among the most impudent that ever struck the city, compelling women in several cases to give them food or clothes because their husbands were not there to protect them. One lady was visited three times by the same tramp and each time he battered the door with a club until she thought it would surely be broken. More than one West End man now leaves a dream handy when he goes to work.

Postponed the Cases.

The cases of Fred Oeschman and the electric light company versus Thomas L. Abrams were called before Squire Travis at city hall this morning but neither side was ready for trial. After a few little disagreements between the attorneys, in which each was accused with being entirely devoid of courtesy and other qualities, the cases were continued until Monday morning at 9 o'clock. H. E. Grosshans represents the plaintiffs and E. D. Marshall the defendant.

Hunting For Office.

Candidates for office next spring are moving around, and, according to a time-honored custom, they are looking for support from East Liverpool. During the past week three men, one wanting to be sheriff, another with his eye on the commissioner's office, and a third looking for a place in the legislature, were in town interviewing some of the leading Republican politicians. They have started early, but the primaries promise to be unusually warm next year.

An Art Exhibit.

The Brotherhood of the Methodist Protestant church are preparing to hold an art exhibit in the Fifth street rink the last three evenings of next week. Many of the finest pictures in the city have been loaned for the occasion, and it is expected that over 500 works of art will be tastefully hung about the big room where the public is admitted. A small fee will be charged for admission.

Black Patti.

The reputation of Black Patti comes to East Liverpool in advance of the noted songstress. She it was who sang so well at the Pittsburg exposition a year or two ago, and many who heard her then will be at the Grand to hear her this evening. The sale of seats has been large, and the singer will be received by a great crowd when she appears on the stage tonight.

A Club Dance.

The Ne Plus Ultra club, an organization of young men, will give their second annual ball in Bradshaw hall on Monday evening next week. A large number of invitations will be issued tomorrow morning, and a most enjoyable evening is anticipated by the merry crowd.

—James Martin, the popular young drug clerk, returned yesterday from Pennsylvania, where he has been spending a few weeks.

DEALERS ARE SUFFERING.

The Shoplifter Reaps a Harvest Before the Holidays.

When the stores are filled with holiday goods, and clerks are busily engaged in attending to the demand of customers, the shoplifter helps himself to what he can find.

A prominent merchant who had but a few minutes before discovered the loss of an article valued at several dollars, said to a reporter that the public had no idea how dealers were compelled to suffer, and that it would be hard for even the loser to estimate how much money is lost by sneak thieves in a year. He knew that he was losing day after day, but he could not afford to watch closely every one that came in the store, as his time was too closely occupied in taking care of his trade. But they usually took anything and everything they could steal, and as a rule selected the dry goods stores in East Liverpool, because they were at times crowded with customers. Occasionally a shoplifter is caught in the act, and then follows tears, apologies and pleadings which usually result in the stolen articles being purchased or returned. Arrests have been made, but the gentleman could not see where they did much good, as names were usually kept from the public, and the disgrace was not the disgrace which causes friends to turn away, and the guilty one to lose the respect of those who know her. If the accused has the slightest chance to escape by perjury, no stops are made at fabrication of the most startling nature.

All sorts of articles are taken. Only the other day a woman placed a fancy perfume bottle in her basket, and was seen by a clerk. In a few minutes later she had a pair of cheap socks keeping it company, and within half an hour had added a corset and a comb to her collection. In another instance a handkerchief was taken, and when the shopping bag which the woman carried was searched it was found to contain nine others, all taken at the same store. One day this week a man entered one of the best known stores in town, and after lingering awhile purchased a few yards of cotton flannel. When the goods were straightened up it was found that a vase, which occupied the place where he stood for a few minutes, was gone. As there was no record of it being sold and a clerk remembered him holding his coat carefully when he went out, it was decided that he had taken it. On another occasion the same dealer suffered the loss of a muff, the thief being a man who bought one of the articles for a few dollars and stole one valued at about half that money. A small boy carried a carpet sweeper away from a furniture store a few months ago, but it was afterward returned.

The merchant mentioned above said that he really believed the city would open its eyes in wonder if all the shoplifters in town were stretched across the Diamond and exposed to public gaze.

The Roads Are Bad.

All the roads leading to the city are either mountains of frozen mud, or broad paths of liquid earth, which makes travel anything but a pleasing pastime. On the Virginia side some of the highways are almost impassable when the ground is thawing, and farmers can be heard to complain bitterly every time they come to town. They are no better on this side, the road to New Lisbon being exceptionally objectionable and hard to travel. This county needs a few good roads.

Trenton Is Hoping.

While there are a great many idle men in Trenton, and trade is not as bright as the people would like to see, there is a feeling there which seems to mean a better prospect after the holidays are over. John Maddock is attempting to buy the old Union pottery, which, when the deal is consummated, means the employment of many men now idle. The manufacturers are hoping, and some are believing that there will be a good spring trade.

No Scotia This Year.

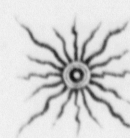

The Scotia, one of the best known packets on the river, will not be put in the trade this year, as the company do not believe there is enough freight and passenger traffic to justify the expense. The boat may start the regular trips some time in January. Captain Mace Arnew, who has been the master of the Scotia for years, has resigned his command, and will go into the coal business at some point down the river.

Clipped Off His Hand.

George Hannaford, for two years a brakeman on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road, met with a serious accident at Bayard Wednesday night, by which he lost his right hand. In making a coupling his wrist was caught between the bumpers and the hand was cut off clean without mangle the hand or fingers, or the arm above the wrist. He almost died from loss of blood before medical aid reached him.

THE NEW INCOME TAX

Secretary Carlisle Approves Rules For It's Collection.

HEAVY PENALTIES ARE ATTACHED.

Corporations and Individuals to Be Severely Assessed For Failure to Comply With the Law. Officers to Be Fined For Disclosing Information.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The secretary of the treasury has approved the regulations prescribed by the commission of internal revenue for the enforcement of the collection of income tax under the late tariff act. Under the regulations provided and approved pursuant to law, every citizen of the United States, whether residing at home or abroad, and every person residing or doing business in the United States who has an annual income of more than $3,500 shall make a full return of the same, verified by his oath, to the collector of internal revenue of the collection district in which he resides, or if not a resident, in which his business or property from which income is received is situated, or before the first Monday in March of each year.

The first return under the new law shall be made on or before the first Monday in March, 1895, and shall include all income from every source, received in the year 1894, from the 1st day of January to the 31st day of December in said year. Guardians, trustees and all persons and corporations acting in any fiduciary capacity are required to make similar returns on or before the date mentioned, for all minors, wards or beneficiaries for whom they act. Persons having less than $1,500 annual income are not required to make the return, but all persons having an income in excess of that amount whether it reaches the taxable limit of $1,000 or not, must make return as prescribed.

A 2 per cent tax will be assessed. The gross gains, profits and income returned by persons shall include: First, gross profits of any trade, business or vocation, wherever carried on; second, rents received or accrued during the year; third, profits from sales of real estate purchased within two years; fourth, farming operations and proceeds; fifth, money and value of all personal property acquired by gift or inheritance; sixth, premium on bonds, stocks, notes and coupons; seventh, income from trade or profession not by stated salary and not heretofore enumerated; eighth, from salary compensation other than that received from the United States; ninth, undivided gains and profits of any partnership; tenth, interests received or accrued from all notes, bonds or other securities; eleventh, interest on bonds or coupons paid of any corporation; twelfth, dividends from corporation; thirteenth, income of wife or minor child or children; fourteenth, all other sources of income not above enumerated.

The deductions allowed on the return and thereon enumerated are: First, $1,000 exempt by law second interest due and paid within the year; third, national, state, county, school and municipal taxes paid, not including assessments for local benefits; fourth, amount expended in purchase or production of live stock or produces sold within the year; fifth, necessary expenses, specified by items, actually incurred in carrying on any business or trade; sixth, losses actually sustained during the year; seventh, actual losses on sales of real estate purchased within two years; eighth, debts contracted and ascertained in the year to be worthless; ninth, salary or compensation over $4,000 from which the tax of 2 per centum has been withheld by disbursing officers of the United States government; tenth, dividends included in the estimate on which 3 per cent tax has been paid by such corporation.

If any person fail to make return in the manner and time provided by law, or make a false or fraudulent return, the collector shall make the return from evidence obtained by summoning the person and examining his books, and from all other evidence obtainable, and shall add 50 per cent to the amount of tax found due as a penalty, in case of neglect or refusal to make return; and 100 per cent penalty in case of a false or fraudulent return. The penalties and interest will be added after notice to the party, and full hearing, if such is desired by him. Where the tax has been returned and paid in another district, or where the party has not a taxable income, he may so declare in printed affidavits on the blank annual returns.

All corporations, companies and associations, both resident and foreign, doing business for profit in the United States shall make annual return of all net profits above business and operating expenses on a separate blank prepared for them, and when duly verified by the oath of the president or other chief officer of such corporation, the return must be delivered to the collector on or before the first Monday in March of each year. The first return of corporations shall cover all net profits without exemption.

The annual return of corporations must include: First, the gross profits from all kinds of business; second, the expenses exclusive of interest, annuities or dividends; fourth, the amount paid on account of interest, annuities and dividends; fifth, the amount paid in salaries of $1,000 or less to each employee; sixth, the amount paid in salaries of more than $1,000 to each employee and the name and address of each of such employees.

The gross profits include: First, all profits of any trade or business; second, interest or coupons, from bonds or other securities of any corporation; third, dividends received from any corporation; fourth, undivided profits of any corporation; fifth, premium on bonds, notes or stocks; sixth, commission or percentage; seventh, interest on government securities; eighth, interest on other notes, bonds and securities; ninth, profits from sales of real estate; tenth, from rents; eleventh, profits from all other source, to be enumerated.

The operating expenses shall include: First, interest paid or accrued within the year on bonded, or other indebtedness of such corporation; second, losses actually sustained during the year, which must be separately stated and fully described as to cause, date and amount; third, all taxes actually paid; fourth, salaries and pay of officers and employees actually paid during the year; fifth, rents and necessary repairs; sixth, all other necessary expenses, which must be itemized and fully explained in the return.

The net profits shall include: First, all amounts paid to stockholders or shareholders; second, the amount of undivided profits on hand or carried to surplus or any other fund; third, amount of net profits used for construction, enlargement or improvement of plant; fourth, all other expenditures or investments from the net profits.

Corporations are required to keep accurate books of account, and may be requested to allow collectors to inspect the same in verifying returns. If the annual return is not filed with the collector in the time required by law, the corporation making default shall forfeit a penalty of $1,000 and 2 per cent a month on the tax due until paid.

Certain specified corporations for charitable and like purposes and certain savings banks, mutual insurance companies and building and loan associations are exempt from income tax. In such cases it is held by the department that the intention of the exemption is to extend benefits to the small depositors and savings institutions, and that the corporation as such and those who speculate in the shares, stock or funds, are not beneficiaries of the exemption.

Collectors are required to examine the methods of incorporation and business articles of corporations claiming exemption, and where such are not within the class specifically exempt to cause return to be made for taxation as in the case of other corporations.

The tax due from salaries of officers and from pay of employees of the United States, will be deducted from the first excess payment over $4,000, by paymasters and disbursing officers in paying the same, and will be paid over to the collectors of the several districts wherein such disbursing officers reside or make payments. It is provided that no part of the salary, fees or emoluments of any state, county or municipal officer is subject to income tax, and no return thereof shall be made of the salary or fees of such officers.

Salaries received by government officials in 1894 shall be included in the first annual return to be made on or before the first Monday in March, 1895. Appeals and the method thereof, are allowed and prescribed in all cases where the person charged with the tax is dissatisfied with the decision of a deputy collector or collector. In the first instance, the appeal is to the collector, and if dissatisfied with his decision, the appellant may have the entire cause, with all papers and evidence relating thereto, transferred to the commissioner of internal revenue for his decision.

Severe penalties are imposed upon all officers and other persons who make known, in any manner, any fact or particulars contained in or relating to any return of any taxpayer or any fact as to the source or amount of the income of any such person. Collectors are strictly directed by the regulations to rigidly enforce this provision. As all original returns are forwarded to and filed in the office of the commissioner of internal revenue, the opportunity for exposure of the facts protected by this provision will be greatly reduced.

The tax on incomes for the year 1894 will be due and payable on or before the 1st day of July next, and if not paid at that time, the penalties will attach. The collection of the tax when delinquent will be enforced in the same manner as in cases of enforcement and collection of other taxes under the internal revenue laws of the United States.

The Work of the House.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The house passed three appropriation bills—the urgent deficiency, fortifications and military academy—and made fair progress on the pension bill. Mr. Calder secured a record-making vote on the appropriation for the collection of the income tax by moving to recommit the bill with instructions to strike it out, but his motion was defeated by 120 majority, the vote standing 49 to 169. The fortification bill passed, carried $1,879,057—$1,478,646 less than the estimates, and the military academy bill $457,38—$187,372 less than the estimates. The pension bill carries $11,351,570—$200,000 less than the estimates, and $10,200,000 less than the appropriation for the current fiscal year.

The Session of the Senate.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The senate has adjourned until next Monday. Practically all the time of the session was consumed in the discussion of the bill to establish a national university of Washington, and the Nicaragua canal bill. Senators Hutton (Va.) and Vilas (Wis.) addressed the senate in support of the former, and Mr. Morgan practically concluded his speech on the latter. He asked the senate that unanimous consent be given, fixing a time for a vote on the bill, but this was refused.

NATIONAL CAPITAL BRIEFS.
The hearing on the proposed financial bill continues. Statutes of Daniel Webster and General Stark, gifts of New Hampshire, have arrived. Expenses will take place in the senate Dec. 20.

The cash balance in the treasury yesterday was $155,025,321; net gold, $104,888,022. Representatives Davey, Meyer and Rogers of the Louisiana delegation in congress, have introduced bills to pay sugar producers sugar bounties for 1894 and part of 1893.

Senator Call has offered an amendment to the Nicaragua canal bill, for the government to build the canal entirely.

Senator Bate, from the committee on military affairs, has presented a favorable report on the bill for a national park out of the battlefield of Shiloh.

Senator Blanchard has introduced a bill directing the secretary of the treasury to refund to the Citizens' Bank of Louisiana $2,500,000, exacted during the war by General Butler, banks and treasury.

Captain Thomas H. McKee, one of the most prominent candidates for the clerk of the next house, has withdrawn from the contest.

Senator Sherman has introduced a bill providing for the purchase of a statute of the late Chief Justice Chase.

The sub-committee of the house committee on postoffices and postroads has completed the postoffice appropriation for the years 1895-1896. The bill will carry an appropriation of $89,441,007.

GOMPERS DID RIGHT.

A. F. of L. Indorses His Action In the A. R. U. Strike.

DECLARED FOR FREE SILVER.

Delegate Lloyd's Resolution, Somewhat Amended, Is Adopted by the Convention—John Burns' Dates Changed. Frances E. Willard Sends Greeting.

DENVER, Dec. 14.—The committee on the president's report has submitted its report to the American Federation of Labor convention. It warmly endorses the action of the president in the American Railway union strike and the various recommendations of the report. It was recommended that May 1, 1895, be fixed for the general establishment of an eight-hour day. The proposed compulsory arbitration law was vigorously opposed. Delegate Penna moved to strike out that part of the report favoring semi-annual conferences with the Knights of Labor, and made a strong speech condemnatory of that order. The consideration of that part of the matter was deferred until after the report of the committee on conference. With this amendment the report was adopted.

The report of the committee on secretaries' report was submitted and adopted. It recommended the setting aside of 15 per cent of the revenue as an assistance fund, and that a deficit of $1,211 in that fund be replaced from the general fund.

The committee on resolutions recommended the adoption of resolutions favoring state employment agencies.

The committee on resolutions also recommended the adoption of Delegate Lloyd's resolution in favor of free coinage of silver. The preamble covers much of the argument of the advocates of free coinage and demands the re-enactment of the law in force before 1873, regardless of the action of any other nation.

Treasurer Lennor objected to the preamble because he said it assumed that all the trouble in this country was due to the demonetization of silver, and moved to strike out all except the bare declaration for the re-enactment of the law.

Mr. Lloyd made a strong speech in favor of his resolution in its entirety. He favored primarily a government issue of non-metallic money, but believed the restoration of silver would be a temporary alleviation of existing evils.

Mr. Lennor's amendment was agreed to, after which the resolution was adopted.

John John Burns' dates have been changed as follows: Omaha, Dec. 17; Chicago, 19; St. Louis, 21; Indianapolis, 23; Cincinnati, 25; Nelsonville, O., 24; Detroit, 25; Cleveland, 26; Pittsburgh, 27; Washington, 29-30; Philadelphia, 31, and Boston, Jan. 2.

The following telegram was received from Miss Frances Willard, president of the W. C. T. U.: "Greetings to the convention. White Ribbons send fraternal delegates earnest sympathy. Honest, hard work is the only remedy."

The auditing committee reported as follows: Receipts of the year, $15,316; balance on hand Nov. 1, 1893, $7,147; total, $22,463. Expenses Nov. 1, 1893, non-payment, $1,000; balance on hand Nov. 1, 1894, $3,191.

The resolutions committee recommended the adoption of a resolution endorsed by the Typographical union, against land monopoly. The report was adopted.

The "political programme" came up this morning. The plank under which the great fight is to come is No. 10. It is as follows: "The collective ownership by the people of all means of production and distribution."

This is supported by the socialist members, and their claim that on a canvass it was found they have a majority of 300 votes. It is probable the opponents of the socialists, in the event they find themselves outnumbered, will try for the adoption of a substitute of less radical nature.

It is believed the discussion of this question and the vote upon it will have a strong bearing upon the election of a president.

Gompers, McGuire, Prescott and others who have been suggested as candidates, are known to oppose plank No. 10, while the miners who are its warmest advocates. John McBride, president of the latter's union, who gave Gompers a close race last year, is being boomed again, and though he is not here, his friends are working for him early and late, and claim that his election is certain.

Carl Schurz Re-Elected.
CHICAGO, Dec. 14.—Carl Schurz has been re-elected president of the National Civil Service Reform league. George McAnany of New York was elected secretary and Silas W. Burt of New York treasurer.

The New Cruiser Minnesota Placed in Commission at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 14.—The cruiser Minnesota, the fastest ship in the world, has gone into commission at the League Island navy yard. There were no distinguished guests present, the transfer of the big ship to Captain C. H. Wadleigh, her new commander, being devoted of any display. At present there are but 135 men ready to go into service on the big cruiser, and as it will require about 430 men regardless of officers to man the Minnesota, it will be some time before she leaves this port.

Lieutenant Commander E. H. Glenn denied the story printed in a certain New York newspaper that the Minnesota would go to the West Indies. He said they would not know the destination of the vessel until orders had been received, and as yet no orders had reached League Island.

He Hangs Himself.

HARTFORD, Dec. 14.—The thieves granted by Governor Morris in order to have the board of pardons pass on murderer John Cronin's case expires today. The board at its session on Dec. 3 refused to interfere. The execution of Cronin will be the first under the new Connecticut law, which requires a mechanism by which the convicted person virtually hangs himself. By stepping on a platform the weight which will cause his death is released. The new law also requires that all executions shall take place in the state prison at Wallingford instead of in the jails as heretofore, and before sunrise of the day appointed. Cronin shot Albert Skinner of South Windsor in a quarrel. While her husband was dying Mrs. Skinner twice attempted suicide.

He Paid Money to Crocker.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The principal interest of the Lexow committee's sessions centered in the testimony of Michael Moran, who formerly was engaged in towing scows for the street cleaning department. He said that he had given up a little money for political purposes. Questioned as to who he had turned the money over to he said it was supposed Mr. Crocker got it. At any rate he sent the money to Mr. Crocker. Mr. Goff produced several checks made payable by Moran to Crocker. The amount of the five Crocker checks, for the three years, was $425.

A Murderer Saved From a Mob.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 14.—Fifty masked men boarded the Chesapeake, Ohio and Northwestern train at a crossing, on the outskirts of town, and attempted to take Sam Owens, the colored murderer of Sam Ogilvie, on his way to the Edenville penitentiary to serve a life sentence. The officers were powerless to resist the attack but defended their man safely till the train could be started. When this was done the mob left the train without securing the murderer.

Violated the Postal Laws.

HOLLDAYSBURG, Pa., Dec. 14.—W. J. Sanford, a New York reporter, has been arrested here by United States Marshal Clark, for violating the postal laws. Sanford had been representing himself as the holder of several valuable patents and had sold territory to numerous parties throughout central Pennsylvania, before he was denounced by the patentees as an impostor.

Rooker Takes Pap's Place.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Rev. Dr. Fred Z. Rooker, for the past seven years vice rector of the North American college at Rome, has been appointed by the pope and propaganda, a member of the Apostolic delegation at Washington, vice Rev. Dr. H. Papi, resigned. He is a son of Mr. Myron H. Rooker, editor of the Albany Press and Knickerbocker.

A Wife Murderer to Hang.

NEW BEDFORD, Dec. 14.—Daniel M. Robertson, who was convicted of stabbing his wife with a carving knife which caused her death, was sentenced on Sept. 23 by Chief Justice Mason to be hanged today. The gallows on which Robertson will answer the penalty of his crime was built by a former shopmate.

Suspected by His Own Daughter.

NASHVILLE, Dec. 14.—George Butler, father-in-law of W. L. Bromley of Henry county, who was called to his post and shot down Wednesday night, is suspected of the deed and a warrant has been sworn out for his arrest by his daughter, the dead man's wife. Butler had accused Bromley of burning his barn.

To Buy Silver For a Cruiser.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 14.—The citizens of this city will give a grand ball this evening at the Lyceum theater, the proceeds to go toward the purchase of a silver service for presentation to the officers of the cruiser Minnesota. Governor Nelson and staff have accepted an invitation to be present.

300 Men Thrown Out.

HAZELTON, Pa., Dec. 14.—Lattimer colliery No. 1, operated by Calvin Fardoe, has closed down for an indefinite period. Dullness in the trade is said to be the cause. Three hundred men are thrown out of work.

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 14.—Judge Jenkins has issued an order prohibiting the garnishing of the wages of an employee of the Northern Pacific road during the life of the receivership.

DRENCHED WITH FIRE

Ashes Cover New Hebrides' Once Fertile Fields.

MORE THAN SIXTY LIVES LOST.

A Village Carried Into the Sea by a Landslide—Earthquake Shocks and Volcanic Eruptions Threaten the Very Existence of the Islands.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 14.—The Australian steamer Warimoo brings startling news that a majority of the islands of the New Hebrides group are passing through a baptism of fire, earthquakes and volcanic disturbances, threatening the very existence of several of the largest and best islands, including Ambrym, celebrated for the excellence of its coffee. On the latter an entire village of natives was recently carried into the sea, the loss of life being estimated at 60 to 75 men, women and children, while in others of the group fatalities are also reported. A layer of ashes from two to six inches deep covers the once fertile fields.

At Epi there was a severe earthquake in the early morning which opened an entire volcanic crater on the west side of Ambrym, and on the next day the whole island trembled. Since then it opened in five or six different places. Even the island of Epi, which was much less affected had felt 63 distinct shocks and for weeks had been covered by clouds of ashes and smoke. Traders and planters living on Ambrym island have fled precipitately to Port Sandewich (Mallicollo), the nearest port, in many cases abandoning all their possessions.

The special correspondent of the Sydney Morning Herald, writing from Epi, said: "Ambrym island is still in violent eruption. The outbreak commenced in an old crater in the center of the island. The center of the island is a mass of lava."

Commander-in-Chief Admiral Bowen Smith has received a report made to him by the commander of the Dart, in which he describes the eruptions. He says the natives were terrified and some were leaving the islands.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S SORROW.
She Conveys Sympathy to Lady Thompson—The Premier Died Poor.

MONTREAL, Dec. 14.—It is general understood that Sir John Thompson's body will be brought from England by way New York. A funeral service will be held in Ottawa and interment will be in Halifax, N. S. The late premier had insurance on his life amounting to $30,000, but apart from this he left hardly any money. Lady Thompson will receive an allowance from the government. The Baroness McDonald received $20,000 on the death of Sir John and Lady Cartier, the widow of Sir George Cartier is still living at Cannes, France, on a government pension of $1,500 a year.

Lady Thompson has received many messages of condolence, most noteworthy being the following from Queen Victoria: "It is impossible for me to say how deeply grieved I am at the terrible occurrence which took place here, and how very truly I sympathize with you in your deep affliction."

PRaises JUBE EARLY.
Senator Daniel Places Him Among the Greatest of Generals.

RICHMOND, Dec. 14.—"The Valley Campaign of General Jubal A. Early," was the subject of an address to the Virginia division of the Army of Northern Virginia last night, by Senator John W. Daniel, who was an intimate personal friend of General Early.

His statements and criticisms in some respects run counter to the estimates of leading military critics on both the Federal and Confederate sides, and the subordinate places he ascribes to such Confederate idols as Joseph E. Johnston, Albert Sidney Johnson and Beauregard, will doubtless arouse comment throughout the south. Senator Daniel's bold, and at the same time, sneering estimate of England's popular military ideas, and the inferior rank he gives them besides Early is another notable feature of his oration.

Carlisle's Bill to Be Reported.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 14.—The house committee has resolved to push the banking bill with the greatest vigor. There is little doubt that the committee will report the Carlisle bill little changed, and it will almost certainly be under discussion by Tuesday. Chairman Springer says that he expects it to pass the house before the holidays.

China and Glass on Exhibition.
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The third annual exhibition of the National league of Mineral Painters, being held at Carnegie hall, today and tomorrow, will be of unusual interest. Many beautiful specimens of painting on china and glass from all parts of the United States, show the great progress made during the last few years in this branch of decorative art.

Parkhurst Elected to Another Club.
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—The Rev. Charles H. Parkhurst, D. D., has been elected to honorary life membership in the Yekyl Island club. Among the members of the club are the Astors, the Vanderbilts, Chanuncy M. Dewey and other New Yorkers. N. K. Fairbank, Marshall Field and L. Z. Leiter of Chicago.

A Millionaire Given a Divorce.
NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Francis J. Oakes, a millionaire of Brooklyn, has been granted a decree of divorce from Luella Oakes upon statutory grounds. The suit has been on trial for more than a week and developed many sensational incidents.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—Despite the announcement of the engagement of $2,300,000 in gold for shipment to Europe on Saturday next, the trend of values on the stock exchange has been upward.

THE NEW OIL COMBINE.

It Will Operate in Direct Opposition to the Standard.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14.—Concerning the reported big oil combine in which Cleveland and Toledo parties are stated to be interested, a member of the firm of Merriam & Morgan of this city, said: "The Merriam and Morgan company has been consolidated with the Sun Refining company of Toledo and will hereafter be known as the Diamond Refining company. The Crystal oil works of Toledo have also been purchased and will be operated hereafter by the new organization."

A meeting was held at Toledo by the parties interested and directors elected. The combined companies will operate in direct opposition to the Standard, and will not only produce and refine oil, but deal largely in all the various products of the article. Merriam & Morgan declined to state the amount of capital stock of the new concern.

A Toledo special says: Robert C. Pew, manager of the Sun Oil company, makes this statement: "Myself and my associates in this company, with Mr. Merriam of the Merriam-Morgan Refining company of Cleveland, have organized the Diamond Oil company, and purchased the plant and property of the Crystal Refining company of this city. The total amount of money involved in the transaction is $25,000. We note intend to consolidate with the Sun oil with the Cleveland company."

Later information develops that the promoters of the combination are the Sun Refining company of Toledo, the Merriam & Morgan company of this city and the Crystal Oil company of Toledo. It is probable that the Diamond Refining company and the Crystal Oil company of Toledo will also be taken into the deal. The incorporators of the new company are J. B. Merriam, E. B. Merriam, J. W. Stewart, John G. White and A. M. Beckwith, and the concern will have a capital of between $6,000,000 and $8,000,000. A pipe line will be constructed from the Ohio field to Toledo, where the refining will be done by process which, it is claimed, renders the Ohio oil superior to that from the Pennsylvania field. The company will also manufacture all the products of petroleum, and extensive buildings for that purpose will be erected.

He went to Beaver this morning, but is in town today on business connected with the new school building. He is pleased with the general appearance of the structure, and believes it will meet the expectation of all.John Hanley returned yesterday afternoon from college and will spend the holidays at home. He has recovered from the injuries he received in one of the numerous football games played by the college team.There were no new cases in police court this morning, and Caroline Smith had the jail all to herself. She has many hard things to say of the reporters, and threatens all sorts of punishment when she is out of prison.A fight near the Second street switch last night was the result of a drunken dispute, and a West End man who figured in the affair is now recovering at the home of a relative on Broadway. He wears a pair of dis-colored optics.In anticipation of the holidays some potteries are already closing in different departments. The Dresden shows the most signs of suspended animation, as arrangements are being made there to move into the new building, and be ready for orders in the early spring.The funeral of Joseph Schaffer, the aged gentleman who was killed on a farm near Calcutta, took place from the Thompson residence on Lincoln avenue at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Reverend J. C. Taggart conducted impressive ceremonies. The remains were laid to rest in Spring Grove cemetery.Last night was set as the regular date of the Doctors' Protective association, but as several were in Lisbon on the Rose case, few were in attendance at the office of Doctor Bailey.
The subject of "Strangulated Hernia," suggested by the recent illness and death of Lawrence Scott, was chosen for discussion at the session.Reverend Huston, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist church, can justly be proud of the fine audience which greeted him last night, and the fact that the receipts exceeded the expectations of his most sanguine friends and admirers. The attendance was far in excess of that greeting prominent lecturers visiting us from a distance.The horses at the fire department are so well trained that they respond to an alarm, it matters not what the condition when the gong strikes. The other evening they were calmly eating supper when the alarm was turned in, but that had no effect upon the horses. Without a moment's hesitation or a word of command they left their oats, and ran to their accustomed place under the harness. The patrol horses frequently do the same.Interest in the Lake Erie ship canal is spreading, and even Wheeling's talking about having something to do with the matter. The line down the Muskingum would help Ohio river towns much more than the canal reaching the river at the mouth of the Beaver, as that would virtually side-track a great many of the best manufacturing communities in Ohio and West Virginia. Liverpool would be aided by the canal, as it would mean improvement in the river.The traveling public, as well as the few who are afraid to travel, will appreciate the efficiency of train service in Ohio when they learn that the commissioner of railroads will say in his coming report for the year that not one passenger was killed in Ohio last year. During that time the railroads of the state carried 35,000,000 passengers, and only two deaths were recorded. One man jumped from a train with suicidal intent, and another was killed when stealing a ride.A slight accident occurred in the Diamond last night, when a Wells-ville man named Martin was attempting to alight from a car. The coach had stopped and the signal had been given for another start when he stepped on the ground, but slipped in the mud and fell. He retained his grip on the handles and was dragged a short distance, sustaining a few bruises on his head and face, and injuring his left arm slightly. The motorman stopped the car and the injured man decided to go home. He was not badly hurt.

WHEN WOMEN REGISTER.

When the women come to voting
And to giving names and ages, There'll be lots of funny capers On those registration pages.Whether she's a Miss or Mrs.
Will annoy the registrars.
Asking won't be safe—they'd rather Read the answer in the stars.As for ages—if the question Must be asked—the man without Faith in truthfulness of answers Had best not display his doubt.Be'll put down the sweet voiced answers, Ask not if they're what they seem.
And, for public satisfaction, Use perhaps this little scheme:Mark the ages when "claimed," in this way (2): Each "refused to answer" so (44)
And all ages that are "sworn to"
With three daggers in a row (444).

WEIGHT OF BIRDS' HEARTS.

They Are Heavier In Proportion Than Those of Animals.Most people will be surprised to learn that the hearts of birds are far heavier proportionately than the hearts of animals, including man, but a little explanation will show that this is quite natural. The more the body works the greater the demand upon the heart, upon which falls the duty of driving the blood through the body; hence the heart develops and becomes heavier. Every body knows that birds are among the most active and hard working of living creatures. The swallow can overtake an express train. The falcon will carry a load weighing three pounds in the air without hindrance to its power of flight or its speed. In short, they have a tremendous capacity for work.The celebrated ornithologist, Marcy, states that a sea gull weighing 1 1/2 pounds is capable of performing in one second work equivalent to raising a weight of nine pounds one yard high. A man weighing 130 pounds, to be equal to the sea gull, would have to lift 180 pounds one yard high in one second. If a man becomes an athlete or carries heavy loads, his heart grows proportionately. No wonder, therefore, that the hearts of our active feathered friends are strikingly heavy as compared with the bulk of their bodies.The average weight of the human heart in normal circumstances is five-one-thousandths of the total weight of the body. Dr. Carl Parrot has lately weighed the hearts of various animals and birds and has found the averages to be as follows, the figures representing the one-thousandth parts of the total weight: Pig, 4.52; ox, 4.59; sheep, 6.01; horse, 6.31. The domestic animals thus come fairly close to man. The wild roebuck has an exceedingly heavy heart —11.5.Most birds are a long way ahead of animals. The carrier pigeon comes out at 12.25; the common sparrow, 16.22; the hobby, an extremely active species of falcon, 16.98; and the song thrush, 25. The heart of the last named is thus five times heavier than that of man in comparison with the total weight—

Thunderstorm Zones.

This subject has been somewhat closely studied by Professor Klossovsky, director of the observatory at Odessa, who has published a paper on the annual distribution of thunderstorms over the globe.His observations show that a high temperature, a certain degree of humidity and a considerable amount of rainfall are the chief agents favoring the developments of thunderstorms. A colored map which accompanies Professor Klossovsky's paper shows the existence of a zone of electric activity of great intensity on both sides of the equator, and this is also the zone of greatest rainfall. The zone is divided into three sections, the first embracing Asia and Oceania, Indo-China and the Sunda islands to New Guinea. Over this zone the yearly average of thunderstorms is 90 to 100. The second zone starts from the west coast of Africa between 5 and 10 degrees north latitude and 5 degrees to 10 degrees south latitude, while the third zone comprises the tropical regions of America between 20 degrees and 23 degrees north latitude, where the mean annual number of storms exceeds 100.To the north of this zone, which is termed the electric equator, the storms decrease in number until the deserts of Africa, Egypt, Persia and central Asia are reached, where the rainfall is scanty and thunderstorms rare. To the north of the zone of deserts, especially over the continents of Europe and Asia, the electric activity is somewhat increased.
The data collected from the high latitudes of the southern hemisphere refer principally to the Falkland islands, where the average number of storms is only four.

A Sure Cure.

Mrs. Lammert of Warsaw had a felon on one of her fingers. She stopped the ravages of the felon by holding the finger in hot lye. Then she stopped the ravages of the lye by holding the finger in a solution of carbolic acid. Then she stopped the ravages of the carbolic acid by having a surgeon amputate the finger. It is believed that the felon will not bother her any more.—Galesburg Republican Register.

A Disgusted Witness.

A witness in describing an event said,
"The person I saw at the head of the stairs was a man with one eye named Wilkins.""What was the name of the other other eye?" spitefully asked the opposing counsel.The witness was disgusted with the levity of the audience.—Ohio Legal News.Many hundreds of manuscripts have been recovered at Pompeii. They were charred rolls, but by the exercise of patience and ingenuity some have been unrolled and read. Nothing of importance has been discovered in their contents.Carnivorous animals seldom produce more than two young at a birth.

gusting and nauseating story, and with this disposition all probability of the sensational claim for damages ever coming into court seems to be at an end.

By Wholesale.

A young lady who was in a hurry to take a train and wanted to buy a small shopping bag walked into a wholesale establishment by mistake.

"Will you show me a bag, please?" she began, but the clerk interrupted her politely.

"We sell nothing at retail," he said. "I could only let you have bags by the quantity."

"Dear me! Not one bag?"

"No, madam. I'm very sorry."

"And I'm in such a hurry! Well!"

She turned toward the door, and her eye was caught by a sample bag on the counter.

"Ah," she exclaimed, "that's exactly the bag I want! Couldn't you sell me the twelfth of a dozen?"

She got her bag—YOUTH'S COMPANION.

The Dyaks of Borneo.

The ferocity of the Dyaks of Borneo when Rajah Brooke first came was appalling. No social or religious function could take place among the tribes without bloodshed. Young unmarried girls came forth from the long seclusion to which they had been condemned since childhood so anemic that they could hardly stand. A slave was killed in their honor and the blood of the victim sprinkled over them. Head hunting had decimated the race. It was imperative that husbands should conjure evil spirits by bringing a human head to their wives before the expected birth of a child. Boys might not aspire to manhood without having earned the badge of the head hunter.

A skull was the first gift of a lover to his mistress and the last token of respect by which the living could honor the dead. On account of his rank no petty chief could be buried without many freshly decapitated heads to form his escort into the next world. The greatest respect, moreover, was shown to such trophies. They were smoked over a fire to preserve them. Their lips were forced open to receive the choicest morsels during the family meal. Tobacco and betel nuts were also spread before them. They were looked upon as honored guests, and every effort was made to win their friendship.—Fortnightly Review.
